EXTENDING AND IMPROVING THE UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION PROGRAM

JULY 12 (legislative day, JULY 2), 1954.—Ordered to be printed

Mr. MILLIKIN, from the Committee on Finance, submitted the following

REPORT

[To accompany H. R. 9709]

The Committee on Finance, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 9709) to extend and improve the unemployment-compensation program, having considered the same, report favorably thereon without amendment and recommend that the bill do pass.

The bill (H. R. 9709) would extend the protection available under the unemployment insurance system to around 4 million workers in the country who today lack this protection. In so doing, it would constitute the first major extension of the coverage of the unemployment insurance system since it was established in 1935.

The unemployment insurance system has always been primarily a State program, and H. R. 9709 continues this method of operation. In so doing, it recognizes that problems of unemployment are of national concern, but that geographic variations and varying economic conditions within the several States make it essential that actual implementation of the system be carried out by State action. In line with this policy the Federal Unemployment Tax Act has not governed the amount of benefits or their duration.

In his economic report, transmitted to Congress on January 28, 1954, the President recognized that in some States the present level of benefits is inadequate and the duration of benefits is deficient. In line with historical policy, he urged State action to correct these defects. Your committee agrees with the President that these matters should be left to State determination.

The major purposes of H. R. 9709 are summarized as follows:

1. The Federal Unemployment Tax Act is extended to employers of 4 or more employees in each of 20 weeks (instead of 8 or more in 20 weeks as under the present law). It is estimated that this provision will make unemployment-insurance protection available to approximately 1.3 million workers not now covered.

2 EXTEND AND IMPROVE UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION

2. Unemployment insurance is extended to substantially all Federal civilian employees, an addition of approximately 2.5 million workers.

3. States are authorized to extend experience-rating tax reductions to new and newly covered employers after they have had at least 1 year of coverage under the State law instead of 3 years as required today.

4. The bill eliminates the privilege of paying the Federal unemployment tax in quarterly installments.

GENERAL STATEMENT

1. Extension of tax to employers of four or more

The bill extends the Federal Unemployment Tax Act to employers who employ 4 or more employees in each of 20 weeks during the year. The present law limits the tax to employers of 8 or more in the same period, although a number of States have already lowered their own requirements so as to cover employers with less than 8 employees. (See table, pp. 4, 5.)

From the standpoint of the individual worker, unemployment insurance protection is as important if he works for a small employer as if he works for an employer of thousands. Moreover, it is as important to maintain the purchasing power of employees of small firms as of large firms. In this connection, the extension of coverage provided by your committee's bill would particularly benefit small communities where a large proportion of workers are employed by small firms.

The further coverage is extended into this area, the further the Federal Government is moving into an area where differences in State and local conditions become a significant factor. There is a twilight zone where needed flexibility can only be maintained through State action. It may be appropriate that unemployment protection be extended into this fringe area, but your committee believes that such extension should be left to State determination in the light of local variations in employment patterns. Your committee does not believe that this problem exists to any appreciable extent with respect to the extension of coverage to employers of four or more.

2. Reduced rates for new and newly covered employers

In all States, employers are granted reductions in the unemployment taxes they must pay the State if their unemployment experience meets certain requirements. The Federal Unemployment Tax Act allows employers to credit this reduction against their Federal unemployment tax. In other words, an employer who has received such a reduction is credited with the difference between the amount actually paid and the amount he would have been required to pay if he had not received the reduction. The Federal law grants this additional credit, however, only if the State law requires an employer to have at least 3 years of experience before he can be given a tax reduction. This means that a new or newly covered employer is required to pay the full tax for at least these initial years even though his experience in those years is as favorable as that of an established employer. In many States, this means that new employers carry a very large proportion of current unemployment taxes. They are thus put at a competitive disadvantage with established employers and are required to carry an extra financial load at a time they can perhaps least afford it.

The President, in his economic report of January 28, 1954, recommended that "Congress allow the shortening, from 3 years to 1, of the period required to qualify for a rate reduction." Section 2 of H. R. 9709 carries out this recommendation in its entirety. In effect, during the first 3 years of an employer's coverage, the amendment will permit a State to tie the period of experience required before rate reduction to the period of time the new employer has had experience under the law. In other words, the rate for an employer who has had 1 year's experience may be based on 1 year's experience, the rate for 1 who has had experience for 2 years, on the basis of 2 years' experience.

It would be emphasized that this amendment merely permits a State to extend a rate reduction on the basis of 1 year's experience if it desires to do so. It does not require such State action.

The amendment is not intended to give new and newly covered employers any competitive advantage over established employers, but merely to equalize as much as possible the opportunity for rate reductions between new and established employers. The factors used to measure the experience of employers vary from State to State. Under the amendment, it is intended that the State measure the experience of new and newly covered employers by the same factor (or factors) that it uses to measure the experience of established employers. For example, one of the most common factors is a reserve balance (the excess of contributions collected over benefits paid and charged to the employer's account). Thus, a State which uses a reserve balance for established employers must do so for new employers. However, in some States, an employer who does not have 3 years of experience, as the Federal law now requires, could not attain the reserve balance now required of established employers. In these States, therefore, a proportionate reduction would have to be made in this reserve requirement to enable new employers with less than 3 years' experience to take advantage of the permission granted by the bill's new rate-reduction provision. Since the bill does not intend to give new employers any greater advantage than established employers, any difference in reserve requirements granted to new employers would therefore have to bear the same proportion to the requirement placed on established employers as the period of coverage required of the two groups. For example, if a 6-percent reserve requirement is required of established employers with 3 years' experience, at least 4 percent must be required of employers with 2 years' experience.

3. Elimination of quarterly installment privilege

The bill eliminates the right to pay the unemployment tax in quarterly installments. This amendment is designed to relieve the Government of an existing administrative burden. Moreover, this administrative burden would be somewhat increased if the new employers covered by this bill were permitted to pay their tax in quarterly installments.

Elimination of this provision should not impose an undue burden on taxpayers. This is indicated by the fact that some 85 percent of the total taxes due are now paid at the time of filing the return without using the installment-payment option. Furthermore, unlike the old-age and survivors insurance tax, the unemployment tax is not due until the year after that in which the taxable wages are paid. The old-age and survivors insurance tax, on the other hand, is payable in quarterly installments during the year in which the wages are paid.

4. Coverage of Federal civilian employees

In his Economic Report, the President stated:

A worker laid off by a Government agency gets no insurance benefits despite the fact that in many types of Federal jobs he is as vulnerable to layoff or dismissal as the factory worker. It is recommended that Congress include in the insurance system the 2.5 million Federal civilian employees, under conditions set by the States in which they last worked, and that it provide for Federal reimbursement to the State of the amount of the cost, estimated to be about $25 million for the fiscal year ending in 1955.

H. R. 9709 carries out this recommendation. Your committee believes that Federal civilian employees as a group are subject to the risk of unemployment on nearly the same scale as nongovernmental workers in the same type of work. In recent years, particularly, several extensive reductions in Federal personnel have demonstrated the real need for extending unemployment benefits to Federal employees. From a wartime peak of well over 3½ million employees in June 1945, Federal employment dropped by a million between 1945 and 1946 and dropped considerably more in the next few years, leveling off at about 2 million in June 1950. After a new increase due to the Korean conflict, Federal employment again fell off by nearly 247,000 between June 1952 and December 31, 1953.

Total annual separations of Federal employees are substantial. They have approximated around half a million each year. Of this total, the percentage which constitute involuntary separations, that is, reductions in force and terminations of temporary appointments, has varied from approximately 17 to 50 percent of total separations.

Your committee believes that the Federal Government should not be in the position of providing less favorable conditions of employment than are required of private employers. Yet, since Federal employees now have no unemployment-insurance protection, involuntarily separated Federal employees have been forced to rely upon accrued annual leave and refunds from their retirement accounts while looking for other jobs. Not only does this defeat the purpose of annual leave, but also, in many cases, the employee may have no such leave accumulation at all. Even where leave has been accumulated, there is evidence that it has been inadequate to cover the duration of Federal workers' unemployment. Moreover, your committee believes that withdrawal of an employee's retirement-fund accumulations is undesirable and a defeat of the purpose of the retirement program.

H. R. 9709 provides for unemployment insurance for Federal civilian workers, with minor exceptions, who are employed in the United States, including Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands, and elsewhere, if citizens of the United States. (Nearly all of the exceptions to coverage are identical with the categories of Federal workers excluded from the Social Security Act for purposes of the old-age and survivors insurance.) Unemployment compensation will be payable to such Federal workers who are unemployed after December 31, 1954. A Federal worker's rights to benefits are to be determined under the unemployment-compensation law of the State to which his Federal services and wages are assigned. Usually, this will be the State in which the worker had his official station when he became unemployed, or, if he has been in Foreign Service, the State in which he resides when he files his claim. Compensation will not be paid for the period with respect to which accrued annual leave is paid upon separation.

The Secretary of Labor is authorized to enter into agreements with each State, under which the State unemployment compensation agency will make benefit payments as agent for the United States and will be reimbursed by the United States for any additional costs of such payments. If a State does not have such an agreement, the Secretary will make the unemployment-compensation payments and will apply the benefit standards and other provisions of the law of such State. Unemployed workers filing a claim in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands will be paid according to the benefit standards and other provisions of the unemployment-compensation law of the District of Columbia.

Any estimates of the cost of the proposed unemployment benefits for Federal workers must necessarily be rough, since there is no experience in the payment of such benefits to Federal workers upon which to base the estimates. The cost will depend to a great extent upon governmental employment levels and turnover, and to some extent upon the overall economic and employment situation prevailing in the country. The Department of Labor estimates that for the last half of fiscal year 1955 the cost will be approximately $25 million. Thereafter, for a full year of operation, based on estimated separations in 1955 of 145,000, the cost will be approximately $35 million. The relatively larger cost for the first 6 months of operation will be due to a backlog of claimants at the start of operations. The backlog will consist of those Federal workers who have been separated by reduction of force or terminated prior to the date when benefits commence, who are unemployed and still eligible for benefits at that time.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS

Section 1. Definition of employer

This section extends the application of the Federal unemployment tax imposed by section 1600 of the Internal Revenue Code by amending section 1607 (a) of the code so as to provide that the term "employer" does not include any person unless on each of some 20 days during the taxable year, each day being in a different calendar week, the total number of individuals who were employed by him in employment, as defined in section 1607 (c), for some portion of the day (whether or not at the same moment of time) was four or more. Thus, the definition of the term "employer" under the bill is the same as the definition of that term under existing law except for the substitution of the words "four or more" for "eight or more." This amendment is effective with respect to services performed after December 31, 1954. Since only a person who is an employer, as defined, for the taxable year in which the wages are paid is subject to the Federal unemployment tax, the amended definition of the term "employer" will be applicable in determining whether wages paid in 1955 or subsequent years are taxable.

Section 2. Experience rates for new employers

This section amends section 1602 (a) of the Internal Revenue Code to permit the States to extend rate reductions to new and newly covered employers after they have had a year's experience and yet retains the right of these employers to additional credit against their Federal unemployment tax with respect to such reduced rate. At present, the code allows employers to obtain additional credit against the Federal tax only after they have had 3 years' experience. This amendment ties the period of experience required before reductions in the State tax rate may be so credited, to the period of time the new employer has had experience under the law. Thus, if the State wishes to avail itself of this provision, the rate for an employer who has had a year's experience must be based on a year's experience, the rate for one who has had 2 years, on the basis of 2 years' experience. At the end of 3 or more years, the employer's experience would continue to be based, as at present, on 3 or more years of experience.

Section 3. Time for payment of tax

This section amends section 1605 (c) of the Internal Revenue Code so as to provide that after 1955 the total amount of the tax shall be paid not later than January 31 next following the close of the taxable year. Under existing law, the taxpayer may elect to pay the tax in four equal installments following the close of the taxable year instead of in a single payment. Section 3 of the bill also contains a conforming amendment to section 1605 (d) of the code.

Section 4 (a). Unemployment compensation for Federal employees

This section adds a new title XV to the Social Security Act to extend the unemployment compensation system to give Federal employees unemployment benefits under conditions set by the State in which they last worked with Federal reimbursement to the States of the amount of the costs. The specific provisions of this title are as follows:

Definitions.—This section defines six terms used in this title (a) "Federal service," (b) "Federal wages," (c) "Federal employee," (d) "compensation," (e) "benefit year," and (f) "Secretary." The definition of "Federal service" is the most important of these definitions since it establishes the type of service that is, and is not, to be covered by the law. It does this by stating in general terms that all service performed after 1952 in the employ of the United States or any instrumentality thereof which is wholly owned by the United States is to be covered. It then lists 12 categories of workers whose services for the Federal Government are to be excluded from coverage even if the type of service they perform otherwise falls within the general definition. The categories excluded by this section are: elective officers; members of the Armed Forces; certain consular agents; certain Bonneville Power employees prior to January 1, 1955; aliens employed outside the United States; individuals who are paid on a contract or fee basis; Federal employees who receive compensation of $12 a year or less; patients or inmates of any Federal hospital, home or other institution; certain interns, student nurses, and other student employees of Federal hospitals; individuals employed on a temporary basis in case of fire, storm, earthquake, flood, or other similar emergency; individuals employed under Federal unemployment relief programs; and members of State, county, or community committees under the Production and Marketing Administration and similar bodies, unless such bodies are composed exclusively of full-time Federal employees.

"Benefit year" is described in subsection (e) as meaning the benefit year defined in the applicable State unemployment compensation law, unless such State law does not define a benefit year, in which case, such term means the period prescribed in the agreement between the Secretary and the State agency or, in the absence of an agreement, the period prescribed by the Secretary. All State laws but one presently define the term "benefit year."

Compensation for Federal employees under State agreements.—This section authorizes the Secretary of Labor to enter into an agreement with any State or with the unemployment-compensation agency of the State under which such agency will make payments to unemployed Federal employees, after December 31, 1954, as agent of the United States. Such payments are to be in the same amount and subject to the same terms and conditions as if the Federal service were covered under the unemployment-compensation law of the State.

Determinations of the State agency are subject to the same administrative and judicial review as are determinations under the State unemployment-compensation law.

Each agreement is to provide the conditions upon which it may be amended or terminated.

Compensation for Federal employees in absence of State agreement.—

This section provides that in the absence of a State agreement the Secretary of Labor is to make payments to unemployed Federal workers, after December 31, 1954, in the same amounts and subject to the same terms and conditions as would be paid to such Federal workers if their Federal service had been covered by the State law, with one significant exception. If a Federal worker meets the qualifying requirement for benefits under the law of a State, without regard to his Federal service and wages, then the Secretary is to make payment of compensation only on the basis of the individual's Federal service and Federal wages. In this manner duplication of benefit payments will be avoided.

Provision is also made for the payment of compensation to Federal employees who file a claim in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. Since neither Puerto Rico nor the Virgin Islands have a general unemployment-compensation law, the Secretary is to make payments to such Federal workers in accordance with the unemployment-compensation law of the District of Columbia. Here, too, provision is made to avoid duplicate payments if a Federal worker has worked in covered private employment in the District of Columbia.

Provision is also made for a fair hearing (administrative) for any Federal employee whose claim for compensation is denied by the Secretary, and any final determination is subject to review in the Federal courts.

The Secretary is authorized to utilize the personnel and facilities of the Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands public-employment services and to delegate authority to officials of such agencies. The cost to these agencies of the administration of this act shall be added to and commingled with funds granted under the Wagner-Peyser Act of 1933 as amended.

State to which Federal service and wages are assignable.—This section prescribes the State law under which a Federal employee's rights to unemployment compensation will be determined. An individual's Federal service and Federal wages are to be assigned to the State in which he had his last official station in Federal service prior to his filing of his first claim for compensation with respect to a particular benefit year, with three exceptions: (1) If at the time that a Federal worker files such claim he resides in another State in which, after his separation from Federal service, he performed service covered under the State unemployment-compensation law, his Federal service and wages are to be assigned to such other State; (2) if his last official station in Federal service was outside of the United States his Federal service and wages are to be assigned to the State where he resides at the time he files his first claim with respect to the benefit year; (3) if such first claim is filed while he is residing in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands his Federal service and wages are to be assigned to Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands. For the purpose of clause (2) above, the "United States" means the States, District of Columbia, Alaska, and Hawaii. It does not include Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands.

It is contemplated that the assignment of an individual's Federal service and wages will not be changed during a benefit year. Furthermore, an assignment of Federal service and wages to a State is only to be with respect to the base period (the 1-year period for determining whether an individual has met the qualifying wage or employment requirement) specified in the unemployment-compensation law of that State. When the next benefit year for the individual is established, any additional Federal service and wages will again be assigned as is prescribed in this section. Whether they may be used will depend on whether they are in the individual's current base period.

Treatment of accrued annual leave.—Under this section an individual who receives a lump-sum payment for annual leave at the time of his separation from Federal service is considered to remain in Federal service during the period with respect to which he receives such payment, and such payment is considered to be "Federal wages." Any payments received during his Federal employment with respect to periods in which he is on leave are considered to be "wages." This section makes it clear that even after separation an individual may be considered as being in the Federal service for the period with respect to which he receives a terminal annual-leave payment.

Payments to States.—This section provides that the United States will pay to each State which has an agreement with the Secretary an amount equal to the additional cost to the State of payments made to Federal workers. Such payments by the United States may be either by advances or reimbursements. Provision is made for the Secretary of Labor to certify periodically to the Secretary of the Treasury the amount payable to each State.

This section provides also that, for the purpose of payments of administrative costs of State unemployment-compensation laws, administration pursuant to an agreement under this title is to be considered as part of the administration of such State laws.

Information.—This section requires all Federal agencies subject to this title to furnish to State agencies, or to the Secretary where the program is not operated by a State, all information which the Secretary determines is necessary and practicable to determine whether a claimant is entitled to benefits. A further provision in this section places in these Federal agencies instead of the State agencies or the Secretary, the sole authority to make whatever findings are necessary on certain issues. These issues are (1) whether a worker is covered by this title, (2) the length of his period of covered service, (3) the amount of his covered wages, and (4) the reasons for termination of his service.

The States, or the Secretary where appropriate, would continue to make the findings on all other issues, as well as the final determination as to whether the claimant is entitled to benefits. They would, for example, determine whether a particular reason for termination of a worker's service constitutes discharge for misconduct or some other disqualifying factor. Only the finding of the Federal agency as to the reason for termination as well as on the other three enumerated issues, would be final and binding on the State agency and the Secretary.

This section also requires State unemployment-compensation agencies to furnish necessary information to the Secretary of Labor.

Penalties.—This section prescribes a penalty of a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than 1 year, or both, for knowingly making a false statement of a material fact or failing to disclose such a fact to obtain or increase benefits under the title for oneself or for another.

This section also provides that the State agency, or the Secretary where a State is not operating the program, may recover benefits received through such misrepresentation or nondisclosure by requiring repayment or by deductions from future benefits. Recovery by repayment or recoupment can be required only if the finding of misrepresentation or nondisclosure is made after the claimant has been given an opportunity for a fair hearing, with any right to further appeal which is appropriate under the appeal provisions of this title. The section also limits recovery by recoupment to the 2-year period following the finding of misrepresentation or nondisclosure.

Regulations.—This section authorizes the Secretary to make necessary rules and regulations, and directs him, insofar as practicable, to consult with representatives of State agencies beforehand.

Appropriations.—This section authorizes appropriations to carry out the purposes of this title.

Section 4 (b). Bonneville Power employees

This subsection contains conforming amendments to sections 1606 (e) and 1607 (m) of the Internal Revenue Code. ### COMPENSATION FOR FEDERAL EMPLOYEES UNDER STATE AGREEMENTS

SEC. 1502. (a) The Secretary is authorized on behalf of the United States to enter into an agreement with any State, or with the agency administering the unemployment compensation law of such State, under which such State agency (1) will make, as agent of the United States, payments of compensation, on the basis provided in subsection (b) of this section, to Federal employees, and (2) will otherwise cooperate with the Secretary and with other State agencies in making payments of compensation under this title.

(b) Any such agreement shall provide that compensation will be paid by the State to any Federal employee, with respect to unemployment after December 31, 1954, in the same amount, on the same terms, and subject to the same conditions as the compensation which would be payable to such employee under the unemployment compensation law of the State if the Federal service and Federal wages of such employee assigned to such State under section 1504 had been included as employment and wages under such law.

(c) Any determination by a State agency with respect to entitlement to compensation pursuant to an agreement under this section shall be subject to review in the same manner and to the same extent as determinations under the State unemployment compensation law, and only in such manner and to such extent.

(d) Each agreement shall provide the terms and conditions upon which the agreement may be amended or terminated.

COMPENSATION FOR FEDERAL EMPLOYEES IN ABSENCE OF STATE AGREEMENT

SEC. 1503. (a) In the case of a Federal employee whose Federal service and Federal wages are assigned under section 1504 to a State which does not have an agreement under this title with the Secretary, the Secretary, in accordance with regulations prescribed by him, shall, upon the filing by such employee of a claim for compensation under this subsection, make payments of compensation to him with respect to unemployment after December 31, 1954, in the same amounts, on the same terms, and subject to the same conditions as would be paid to him under the unemployment compensation law of such State if such employee's Federal service and Federal wages had been included as employment and wages under such law, except that if such employee, without regard to his Federal service and Federal wages, has employment or wages sufficient to qualify for any compensation, during the benefit year under the law of such State, then payments of compensation under this subsection shall be made only on the basis of his Federal service and Federal wages.

(b) In the case of a Federal employee whose Federal service and Federal wages are assigned under section 1504 to Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands, the Secretary, in accordance with regulations prescribed by him shall, upon the filing by such employee of a claim for compensation under this subsection, make payments of compensation to him with respect to unemployment after December 31, 1954, in the same amounts, on the same terms, and subject to the same conditions as would be paid to him under the unemployment compensation law of the District of Columbia if such employee's Federal service and Federal wages had been included as employment and wages under such law, except that if such employee, without regard to his Federal service and Federal wages, has employment or wages sufficient to qualify for any compensation during the benefit year under such law, then payments of compensation under this subsection shall be made only on the basis of his Federal service and Federal wages.

(c) Any Federal employee whose claim for compensation under subsection (a) or (b) of this section has been denied shall be entitled to a fair hearing in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary. Any final determination by the Secretary with respect to entitlement to compensation under this section shall be subject to review by the courts in the same manner and to the same extent as is provided in section 205 (g) with respect to final decisions of the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare under title II.

(d) The Secretary may utilize for the purposes of this section the personnel and facilities of the agencies in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands cooperating with the United States Employment Service under the Act of June 6, 1933 (48 Stat. 113), as amended, and may delegate to officials of such agencies any authority granted to him by this section whenever the Secretary determines such delegation to be necessary in carrying out the purposes of this title. For the purpose of payments made to such agencies under such Act, the furnishing of such personnel and facilities shall be deemed to be a part of the administrations of the public employment offices of such agencies.

STATE TO WHICH FEDERAL SERVICE AND WAGES ARE ASSIGNABLE

SEC. 1504. In accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary, the Federal service and Federal wages of an employee shall be assigned to the State in which he had his last official station in Federal service prior to the filing of his first claim for compensation for the benefit year, except that—

(1) if, at the time of the filing of such first claim, he resides in another State in which he performed, after the termination of such Federal service, service covered under the unemployment compensation law of such other State, such Federal service and Federal wages shall be assigned to such other State;

(2) if his last official station in Federal service, prior to the filing of such first claim, was outside the United States, such Federal service and Federal wages shall be assigned to the State where he resides at the time he files such first claim; and

(3) if such first claim is filed while he is residing in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands, such Federal service and Federal wages shall be assigned to Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands.

PAYMENTS TO STATES

SEC. 1506. (a) Each State shall be entitled to be paid by the United States an amount equal to the additional cost to the State of payments of compensation made under and in accordance with an agreement under this title which would not have been incurred by the State but for the agreement.

(b) In making payments pursuant to subsection (a) of this section, there shall be paid to the State, either in advance or by way of reimbursement, as may be determined by the Secretary, such sum as the Secretary estimates the State will be entitled to receive under this title for each calendar month, reduced or increased, as the case may be, by any sum by which the Secretary finds that his estimates for any prior calendar month were greater or less than the amounts which should have been paid to the State. Such estimates may be made upon the basis of such statistical, sampling, or other method as may be agreed upon by the Secretary and the State agency.

(c) The Secretary shall from time to time certify to the Secretary of the Treasury for payment to each State sums payable to such State under this section. The Secretary of the Treasury, prior to audit or settlement by the General Accounting Office, shall make payment to the State in accordance with such certification, from the funds for carrying out the purposes of this title.

(d) All money paid a State under this title shall be used solely for the purposes for which it is paid; and any money so paid which is not used for such purposes shall be returned, at the time specified in the agreement under this title, to the Treasury and credited to current applicable appropriations, funds, or accounts from which payments to States under this title may be made.

(e) An agreement under this title may require any officer or employee of the State certifying payments or disbursing funds pursuant to the agreement, or otherwise participating in its performance, to give a surety bond to the United States in such amount as the Secretary may deem necessary, and may provide for the payment of the cost of such bond from funds for carrying out the purposes of this title.

(f) No person designated by the Secretary, or designated pursuant to an agreement under this title, as a certifying officer, shall, in the absence of gross negligence or intent to defraud the United States, be liable with respect to the payment of any compensation certified by him under this title.

(g) No disbursing officer shall, in the absence of gross negligence or intent to defraud the United States, be liable with respect to any payment by him under this title if it was based upon a voucher signed by a certifying officer designated as provided in subsection (f) of this section.

(h) For the purpose of payments made to a State under title III, administration by the State agency of such State pursuant to an agreement under this title shall be deemed to be a part of the administration of the State unemployment compensation law.

INFORMATION

SEC. 1507. (a) All Federal departments, agencies, and wholly owned instrumentalities of the United States are directed to make available to State agencies which have agreements under this title or to the Secretary, as the case may be, such information with respect to the Federal service and Federal wages of any Federal employee as the Secretary may find practicable and necessary for the determination of such employee's entitlement to compensation under this title. Such information shall include the findings of the employing agency with respect to—

- (1) whether the employee has performed Federal service,
- (2) the periods of such service,
- (3) the amount of remuneration for such service, and
- (4) the reasons for termination of such service.

The employing agency shall make the findings in such form and manner as the Secretary shall by regulations prescribe (which regulations shall include provision for correction by the employing agency or errors or omissions). Any such findings which have been made in accordance with such regulations shall be final and conclusive for the purposes of sections 1502 (c) and 1503 (c).

(b) The agency administering the unemployment compensation law of any State shall furnish to the Secretary such information as the Secretary may find necessary or appropriate in carrying out the provisions of this title, and such information shall be deemed reports required by the Secretary for the purposes of paragraph (6) of subsection (a) of section 303.

PENALTIES

SEC. 1508. (a) Whoever makes a false statement or representation of a material fact knowing it to be false, or knowingly fails to disclose a material fact, to obtain or increase for himself or for any other individual any payment authorized to be paid under this title or under an agreement thereunder shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both.

(b) (1) If a State agency or the Secretary, as the case may be, or a court of competent jurisdiction, finds that any person—

(A) has made, or has caused to be made by another, a false statement or representation of a material fact knowing it to be false, or has knowingly failed, or caused another to fail, to disclose a material fact, and

(B) as a result of such action has received any amount as compensation under this title to which he was not entitled, such person shall be liable to repay such amount to the State agency or the Secretary, as the case may be. In lieu of requiring the repayment of any amount under this paragraph, the State agency or the Secretary, as the case may be, may recover such amount by deductions from any compensation payable to such person under this title during the two-year period following the date of the finding. Any such finding by a State agency or the Secretary, as the case may be, may be made only after an opportunity for a fair hearing, subject to such further review as may be appropriate under sections 1502 (c) and 1503 (c).

(2) Any amount repaid to a State agency under paragraph (1) shall be deposited into the fund from which payment was made. Any amount repaid to the Secretary under paragraph (1) shall be returned to the Treasury and credited to the current applicable appropriation, fund, or account from which payment was made.

REGULATIONS

SEC. 1509. The Secretary is hereby authorized to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this title. The Secretary shall insofar as practicable consult with representatives of the State unemployment compensation agencies before prescribing any rules or regulations which may affect the performance by such agencies of functions pursuant to agreements under this title.

APPROPRIATIONS

SEC. 1510. There are hereby authorized to be appropriated out of any moneys not otherwise appropriated such sums as are necessary to carry out the provisions of this title.
