FINANCE COMMITTEE TO REVIEW MENTZ NOMINATION

The Senate Committee on Finance will review the nomination of Roger Mentz to be Assistant Secretary of the Treasury for Tax Policy at a hearing April 9, Chairman Bob Packwood (R-Oregon) announced today.

Senator Packwood said the nomination hearing is scheduled to begin at 9:00 a.m., Wednesday, April 9, 1986, in Room SD-215 of the Dirksen Senate Office Building.

The Mentz hearing will precede a previously announced Committee on Finance 9:30 a.m. mark-up of the Chairman's proposal on tax reform.

Mr. Mentz, 44 and a native of New York City, is currently Acting Assistant Secretary of Treasury for Tax Policy. He previously was Deputy Assistant Secretary for Tax Policy. From July 1974 to April 1985, he was a partner in the New York based firm of Mudge, Rose, Guthrie, Alexander and Ferdon.

Mr. Mentz earned a bachelor's degree at Princeton University and law degree at the University of Virginia.

The CHAIRMAN. The committee will come to order for the hearing on Roger Mentz as the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury for Tax Policy.

This is almost like carrying coals to Newcastle. The Acting Secretary has been before us for so long, as I told the audience the other day, I had forgotten he hadn't been confirmed.

And when he has indicated to me that the administration has sent forth the nomination, I really thought he was talking about something else and that he was being nominated for general counsel in Bermuda or something and was leaving us.

We do have with us today a member of this committee, Senator Bradley, who has some introductory remarks of the Secretary.

Senator LONG. Mr. Chairman, if I might just interject, one might think the administration was taking a considerable risk to wait all this time to get this name up here. You know, a lot of people when you meet them you don't like them, and when you know them you hate them. [Laughter.]

And they let us look this man over all this time. It might have been a serious risk.

I really think, though having gotten to know the man, I am ready to vote for him, unless Senator Bradley talks me out of it. [Laughter.]

The CHAIRMAN. Go ahead, Bill.

Senator BRADLEY. Thank you very much, Mr. Chairman.

I am very pleased to have the chance to introduce Roger Mentz to the Finance Committee. He has a number of things to his credit, not the least of which is he grew up in New Jersey, went to Princeton University, and lived in New Jersey until he took this job last year at the Treasury Department.

The office for which he has been nominated, the Assistant Secretary for Tax Policy, is one of the most important positions in Government. It is an office that must be filled by someone whose educational and professional achievements leave no doubt as to his understanding of the Tax Code. But mastery of the technical details, by itself, is really not enough.

The Assistant Secretary must also display sound judgment and a keen sense of the larger policy issues involved in the writing of our tax laws.

Finally, he or she needs an ample store of patience and good humor just to survive the fractiousness that seems the inevitable component of the tax legislative process.

Perhaps at no time in this committee's history has so much responsibility fallen on an Assistant Secretary's shoulders. He has undertaken a very important endeavor in trying to reform our unfair and inefficient and unduly complicated tax system. And we will need all the help we can get from the Assistant Secretary in particular.

But weighty as this responsibility is, Roger Mentz is well qualified for the office. He has distinguished himself intellectually and professionally in the tax field and, more important, I believe, he will provide this committee with the technical expertise and mature judgment we need in the weeks ahead.

Most important, I am confident he will fulfill the Assistant Secretary's traditional role as an advocate for sound tax policy.

So, Mr. Chairman, it is with a great deal of pleasure and respect that I introduce an old friend, Roger Mentz, to the committee today for this official part of the proceeding.

The CHAIRMAN. Thank you. Mr. Secretary, any opening comments?

STATEMENT OF J. ROGER MENTZ, ASSISTANT SECRETARY-DESIGNATE FOR TAX POLICY, DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

Mr. MENTZ. I would just like to say, Mr. Chairman, that it is my deepest honor to be before the Committee on Finance as a nominee for the office of Assistant Secretary for Tax Policy.

Thank you.

The CHAIRMAN. I might enter into the record a cartoon from The New Yorker that someone has given me.

It says: "In the case of J. Roger Mentz before this Senate Finance Committee," and the forewoman of the jury is standing up reading out the verdict, and she says: "We find the defendant not guilty, but not all that innocent either." [Laughter.]

[The cartoon follows:]

"We find the defendant not guilty but not all that innocent, either."

I might also say we have received a letter from the Director of the Office of Government Ethics, indicating the Secretary's compliance with the Ethics in Government Act; and the letter will be made a part of today's record.

Senator Long, any questions?

Honorable Robert Packwood
 Chairman, Committee on Finance
 United States Senate

Dear Mr. Chairman:

In accordance with the Ethics in Government Act of 1978, I enclose a copy of the financial disclosure report filed by John R. Mentz, who has been nominated by President Reagan for the position of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury (Tax Policy).

We have reviewed the report and have also obtained advice from the Department of the Treasury concerning any possible conflict in light of the Department's functions and the nominee's proposed duties. Mr. Mentz has stated to this Office that he intends to recuse himself in any particular matter in which he knows his former law firm has a financial interest as a party or in which they represent a party.

Based on his stated intention, we believe Mr. Mentz is in compliance with applicable laws and regulations governing conflicts of interest.

Sincerely,

 David H. Martin
 Director

Senator LONG. Mr. Mentz, I have been on this committee for more than 30 years, serving both in the majority and in the minority. There has only been one person that I recommended for an appointment in the Treasury Department who actually got a job. That was Larry Woodworth, who served us as chief of staff of our Joint Tax Committee.

In fact, at that time, it was the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue and Taxation.

The poor fellow, he wanted to retire from Government, but I thought the Government needed him, so we put him in the job. With so many frustrations—mainly because of the White House—the pressure was so great on the poor man that he died in the job. He didn't last a term; but how is your health? [Laughter.]

Mr. MENTZ. Up until now, it has been fine. [Laughter.]

Senator LONG. Thank you very much.

The CHAIRMAN. This committee has been very lucky, and I think the administrations have been very lucky. After Larry died, they picked Don Lubick, and I thought Don did an excellent job.

And then, we had Buck Chapoton for 4 years. I thought Buck did an excellent job.

And so, you are following, I think, in very luminous footsteps; and so far, I have been very, very impressed with everything you have done.

The next 3 weeks, you poor devil, you are going to be here 5 and 6 hours a day, and we are going to be asking for instantaneous administration positions on some things probably the administration doesn't exactly have a position on.

But as soon as you say yes or no, that is going to bind the President. So, I hope you are prepared to speak rapidly and quickly.

Mr. MENTZ. You might not hear yeses and noes. [Laughter.]

The CHAIRMAN. Well, in that case, we will follow the common law concept that silence is acquiescence. [Laughter.]

Senator LONG. Mr. Chairman, if I might just ask one further question?

I see that Buck Chapoton is back there.

The CHAIRMAN. Is he back there?

Senator LONG. I was going to ask: Is Buck going to recommend this appointment?

Mr. CHAPOTON. I will recommend the appointment.

Senator LONG. Thank you.

The CHAIRMAN. Mr. Chapoton is recorded as aye. [Laughter.]

All right. We will stand in adjournment, until 9:30 a.m., when we will start marking up the energy and resources section and hopefully finish that and be able to do accelerated cost recovery also.

Mr. Secretary, you have about a 15-minute reprieve.

Mr. MENTZ. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

[Whereupon, at 9:14 a.m., the meeting was adjourned.]
