Staff Report on Sanofi's Strategic Use of Third Parties To Influence the FDA

A June 24, 2010 Wall Street Journal article reported that two medical groups and a doctor with financial ties to Sanofi submitted letters to the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) supporting Sanofi's citizen petition requesting that the FDA delay approval of a generic version of the blood-thinner Lovenox.

The Finance Committee requested records from Sanofi detailing its relationship with the North American Thrombosis Forum (NATF), the Society of Hospital Medicine (SHM), and Dr. Victor Tapson, based on a concern that there may have been a misuse or abuse of the citizen petition process.<sup>1</sup>

The documents obtained by the Committee suggest that NATF, SHM, and Dr. Tapson served as components of a coordinated public relations strategy by Sanofi to use FDA's citizen petition process in an attempt to prevent or delay generic alternatives to its blockbuster drug Lovenox from coming on the market.

A review of the documents provided by Sanofi revealed the following facts:

- According to a 2009 Sanofi slide presentation on its "Lovenox Patient Safety Strategy," a core issue faced by Sanofi was the "imminent threat to [Sanofi's] Lovenox franchise" posed by "generic alternatives." The slides show that Sanofi sought to encourage "independent interaction with regulatory authorities." Specifically, the "Progress To Date" slide identifies the "Independent communication with FDA by professional organizations and prominent [key opinion leaders]" regarding Lovenox.<sup>2</sup>
- Duke University medical professor Dr. Victor Tapson, who was paid $260,604 by Sanofi for "Speaker/Consultant Services," wrote a May 21, 2008 letter from the American College of Chest Physicians to the FDA encouraging the agency "to learn more of the findings and recommendations" of a March 28, 2008 "scientific interchange roundtable" in Huntington Beach, CA, which Sanofi paid $190,000 to sponsor.<sup>3</sup>

<sup>3</sup>Payments from Sanofi to Dr. Victor Tapson from 2007 to August 11, 2010; e-mail from Sanofi Director of External Affairs Rachel Couchenour to Sanofi's James Caro, July 7, 2008, SA-SFC-0000442; the Committee learned that Sanofi sponsored the March 2008 ACCP roundtable and

- SHM received $2,675,850 from Sanofi from January 2007 through August 11, 2010 for conference exhibits, sponsorship, and grants. Sanofi's payments to SHM totaled $1,132,500 between July 1, 2007 and June 30, 2009, accounting for 8 percent of SHM's total revenue during those 2 years.<sup>4</sup>
- SHM's August 2008 letter to the FDA stated that an "untested generic substitution for [low-molecular weight heparins] is not in our patients' best interest." Sanofi's public relations team considered this letter to be a "key accomplishment."<sup>5</sup>
- Internal Sanofi communications indicate that SHM consulted with the American College of Chest Physicians and Dr. Tapson about sending a letter to the FDA after "a very positive meeting" with Sanofi officials.<sup>6</sup>
- Before sending the letter to the FDA, the CEO of SHM told Sanofi in an e-mail: "SHM has no history of making similar comments to the FDA or any government agency of this kind. While the Ec [Executive Committee] might be supportive they may feel this is not something that SHM has the expertise or knowledge to say much about. . . . That being said when something is important to any of our partners (like Sanofi) that we have a long term relationship with we want to give any issue that is important to our partner careful consideration."<sup>7</sup>
- NATF received $2,351,750 from Sanofi between January 2007 and August 2010. From 2007 through 2009, Sanofi's payments of over $2 million accounted for 81 percent of NATF's total revenue during those 3 years.<sup>8</sup>
- After Sanofi officials met with NATF officials on "Lovenox and [follow-on-biologic] strategies," Sanofi officials wrote about the need to "keep Vic and especially NATF on task for the FDA communication."<sup>9</sup>
- E-mails show Sanofi officials coordinated their media strategy with NATF and were sensitive to how Sanofi's close relationship with NATF was perceived by the FDA and in the press. In one case, Sanofi officials decided against quoting a scientist affiliated with NATF in Sanofi's press release on a generic version of Lovenox because they were concerned about NATF losing credibility with the FDA. In another case, Sanofi officials were concerned about how the press would perceive Sanofi's relationship with NATF after a public relations firm a subsequent paid supplement in the ACCP newspaper for $190,000 during a telephone conversation between Committee staff and ACCP staff on February 8, 2011.

Dear Mr. Irace:

The United States Senate Committee on Finance (Committee) has jurisdiction over the Medicare and Medicaid programs. As senior members of the United States Senate and as Chairman and Ranking Member of the Committee, we have a special responsibility to the more than 100 million Americans who receive health care coverage under those programs to ensure that beneficiaries receive pharmaceuticals that are safe and effective.

Over the last six years, the Committee made inquiries into various aspects of the medical industry, including corporate funding for Continuing Medical Education and the failure of physicians to disclose payments from industry while serving on medical boards that make decisions affecting medical research and practices. These inquiries revealed that pharmaceutical and device companies spend a great deal of money funding physicians, often with little or no transparency.

According to a June 24, 2010 Wall Street Journal article, the North American Thrombosis Forum, the Society of Hospital Medicine, and Dr. Victor F. Tapson at Duke University submitted letters to the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) in support of a citizen petition filed by Sanofi-Aventis in 2003 requesting the delay of approval of generic versions of the blood-thinner Lovenox.

The Wall Street Journal reports that the Duke University professor and two medical groups have financial ties to Sanofi-Aventis and did not disclose these financial ties in their letters to the FDA.

Last month, the FDA finally responded to the citizen petition, more than seven years after it was filed. We are concerned, however, that the North American Thrombosis Forum, the Society of Hospital Medicine, and Dr. Tapson may have submitted their letters to the FDA at the behest of Sanofi-Aventis in order to delay or prevent competitors from selling a generic version of Lovenox. When there are questions or concerns about the safety of a drug, they ought to be raised and resolved in a timely and thorough manner. The citizen petition process is one way that individuals and entities can express their concerns and seek appropriate government action. However, when misused or abused, the process can lead to delays in patient access to potentially affordable, safe, and effective generic alternatives.

Accordingly, please provide us with the following information:

1. A detailed account of any payments that Sanofi-Aventis made to the North American Thrombosis Forum, the Society of Hospital Medicine, including employees of these organizations, and Dr. Victor F. Tapson from January 1, 2007 to the present.
2. For each individual and organization identified in question number 1 above, please provide the following information for each payment in table format:
  - a. Date of payment
  - b. Payment description (CME, honorarium, research support, etc.)
  - c. Amount of payment
  - d. Year end or year-to-date payment total
3. Did any employee or organization affiliated with Sanofi-Aventis instruct or advise the North American Thrombosis Forum, the Society of Hospital Medicine, or Dr. Victor F. Tapson to submit letters to the FDA in support of the Sanofi-Aventis citizen petition to the FDA requesting a delay in the approval of generic versions of Lovenox? If yes, please provide the following:
  - a. All documents and communications related to Sanofi-Aventis' citizen petition to the FDA requesting a delay in the approval of generic versions of Lovenox from January 1, 2007 to the present.
  - b. All documents and communications regarding the North American Thrombosis Forum and FDA approval of generic Lovenox, including communications between Sanofi-Aventis and the North American Thrombosis Forum from January 1, 2007 to the present.

- c. All documents and communications regarding the Society of Hospital Medicine and FDA approval of generic Lovenox, including communications between Sanofi-Aventis and the Society of Hospital Medicine from January 1, 2007 to the present.
- d. All documents and communications regarding Dr. Victor F. Tapson and FDA approval of generic Lovenox, including communications between Sanofi-Aventis and Dr. Victor F. Tapson from January 1, 2007 to the present.
- e. Copies of any contracts or agreements between Sanofi-Aventis and the North American Thrombosis Forum, the Society of Hospital Medicine, and Dr. Victor F. Tapson from January 1, 2007 to the present related to Sanofi-Aventis' citizen petition to the FDA requesting a delay in the approval of generic versions of Lovenox.

In cooperating with the Committee's review, no documents, records, data, or other information related to these matters, either directly or indirectly, shall be destroyed, modified, removed, or otherwise made inaccessible to the Committee.

We look forward to hearing from you by no later than August 30th, 2010. Summary:
Lovenox Patient Safety Strategy

January 2009

Lovenox Patient Safety

Core Issue

We face an imminent threat to our Lovenox franchise from introduction of generic alternatives

- ▶ Lovenox compound patent successfully challenged/invalidated
- ▶ Lovenox currently regulated as a drug rather than biologic despite its complex polysaccharide structure
- ▶ FDA is currently reviewing "J Pathway" applications for generic enoxaparin
- ▶ Momenta claims an ability to fully characterize and reproduce enoxaparin, but this has not been documented
- ▶ There is skepticism and concern among key clinicians and scientists about the adequacy of FDA's review process and the clinical equivalence of potential alternatives

Lovenox Patient Safety

• S-A Position

- Lovenox has established an unequalled record of safety and efficacy across all its indications
- The LMWH products in the marketplace are not considered interchangeable
- The science surrounding characterization of polysaccharides is new and untested
- The complexity of these products, combined with the life-threatening nature of their indications demands that:
  - I Alternative products be subject to robust evaluation, including clinical trials to document equivalency and potential issues with immunogenicity
  - I Alternative products should be uniquely identified to enable ongoing market surveillance
- LMWH would be most appropriately regulated as biologics

Reasonable Safety Mission

- Science essential – need clinical trials to validate approval of biosimilars – they are similar and not identical products
- Safety required – need avenues to track what LMWHs are used in any patient due to black-box warning and immunogenicity:
  - ▶ J-Codes
  - ▶ Patient registry
  - ▶ Unique generic names

Subject: RE: LMWH Safety Letter

A short while ago I received the attached draft of the letter Vic Tapson wrote for ACCP. I have this on our Exec Comm agenda to discuss if SHM wants to support this letter, write our own letter, or not comment. One distinction is that this letter was the product of a meeting on the subject, which obviously the SHM EC and Board would not have detailed knowledge about. The second issue is that SHM has no history of making similar comments to the FDA or any government agency of this kind. While the Ec might be supportive they may feel this is not something that SHM has the expertise or knowledge to say much about. As you might imagine since we touch so many different disease states SHM gets asked to evaluate guidelines, comment on regulations, etc and we probably take action on 5-10% of these requests. That being said when something is important to any of our partners (like Sanofi) that we have a long term relationship with we want to give any issue that is important to our partner careful consideration.

Let me see what they say and get back to you either way

Janet Woodcock, M.D
FDA Deputy Commissioner and Chief Medical Officer
U. S. Food and Drug Administration
5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville MD 20857-0001

Dear Dr. Woodcock:

The American College of Chest Physicians is a leading resource for the improvement in cardiopulmonary health and critical care in the United States. With a membership of over 16,000 professionals representing over 100 countries, this organization focuses on the promotion of prevention and treatment of diseases of the chest through leadership, education, research, and communication.

As an organization, the College has always been in the forefront of cardiopulmonary medicine. I work with the College to publish the ACCP Guidelines for Antithrombotic Therapy for Prevention and Treatment of Thrombosis, which represents the interpretation of the vast clinical literature pertaining to thrombosis with stringent analyses. The guidelines have been used worldwide and provide clinician recommendations to effectively prevent and treat thrombotic disorders in patients.

Over the last several months, the College has monitored the potential development and approval of generic forms of certain products that are deemed critical to cardiopulmonary clinicians. One area of recent interest of the College is the class of agents commonly referred to as low-molecular-weight heparins or LMWHs (FDA Docket # 203P-0064).

With the current consideration for generic LMWHs, the concern for appropriate evidenced-based use and safety for patients increases significantly. There are currently three LMWH products available for use in the United States. The College has a longstanding caution that since these agents differ in pharmacokinetic properties and anticoagulant profiles, they are not to be considered clinically interchangeable. The clinical data produced through randomized clinical trials by the sponsors of the various branded LMWHs clearly supports the College's recommendation against interchange. Scientifically, the current LMWHs have a common biologic origin, vary in manufacturing process, and are incompletely characterized.

With the above considerations in mind, the convening of a roundtable was deemed warranted. On March 28, 2008 – a scientific interchange roundtable entitled “Low Molecular Weight Heparins: Patient Safety and Clinical Data Requirements with Biosimilar Generic Compounds” was convened by the College in Huntington Beach, California. I had the pleasure of serving as co-chair for the development of this session. I encourage the FDA to learn more of the findings and recommendations of the roundtable, by either contacting myself or the College directly. Although I, and many of my professional colleagues, support the development and availability of generic products, we urge the Food and Drug Administration require that potential generic LMWHs produce data from randomized clinical trials for comparable indications of use with the branded LMWHs. Such trials are the basis of guideline recommendations that not only assist the clinician community in this country in routinely making therapeutic decisions, but also comfortable in knowing their patients are receiving the best possible care throughout the entire healthcare system.

If you have further questions or require additional information or would like to meet with myself, or members of the College, please contact use the contact information found on the bottom of this letter.

Sincerely,

Subject: Monthly Report- Action Item

Team,

The Communications & Public Affairs (COMPA) group publishes a monthly report detailing key accomplishments. This report is sent to Paris. Our new group will be providing our accomplishments to be included in the report.

Here are the guidelines:

- Only include major activities that occurred during the month;
- Don't include "planning" activities, but completed activities, per Ed. If there is a long-lead project and what occurred was "continued planning and preparation for event in October," for example, it wouldn't be included in the August report. It might be that the project wouldn't be reported on until October, depending on when reportable activity actually takes place.

- The number of bullets for each group in the report varies widely based on activities each month. Some months a group might have 4 bullets and the next month, that same group might have 9 bullets. That reflects the varying levels of activity, due to some projects not having completed activities in every month. It's normal for that to be the case.

Action:

First report is due by August 25th. Each of you to forward 1 to 2 executive-style bullet points to Terri and I by Friday August 22. I will then select 4-9 bullet points to send up to Sheila and Ed.

Thanks

Eric

I don't have an exact timeline. I know that Larry has been doing his "due diligence" and has reached out to ACCP and Vic Tapson. I understand Vic was going to share his letter with Larry. Next steps will be his discussion with the board. I'll follow-up with him.
Thanks-

Chuck -

As you are aware we had a very positive meeting with SHM on Tuesday of this week. Larry verbally agreed to the next step of composing a letter to the FDA. He asked for several follow-up things from me that we discussed on Wednesday, including a contact at ACCP. As I recall from our conversation, you wanted to discuss with John Agos and would get back to me. Have you had the opportunity and what are your thoughts @ this point?

Honestly, I think Larry wants to reach out to someone who will share their letter. Thanks for your assistance.

Mary-

Larry also requested the name & address of who he should send the letter to. Can you advise or should I just reach out directly to Brian Harvey? Should he include the document number in his letter? Thanks.

Larry-

Thanks for the update and really glad to hear that you are presenting this to your EC. I certainly appreciate that SHM needs to scrutinize all requests and hopefully the perspective and background that Dr. Pollack provided to you regarding this patient safety issue will be useful in your discussion.

It's always good to hear that SHM values our partnership but I want to reiterate that the importance of this patient safety issue transcends that. I've heard many times from you, and your membership, that hospitalists "own" DVT and also that they like to be proactive on issues affecting patient safety and quality. If your EC feels they need more information, I'm happy to work with SHM to support a similar meeting as the one ACCP convened or to bring in someone like Dr. Paulson to present the data to the board. Please let me know if either of those options would be helpful.

I look forward to hearing from you following your EC discussion.

Regards,
Rachel

Subject: RE: LMWH Safety Letter

A short while ago I received the attached draft of the letter Vic Tapson wrote for ACCP. I have this on our Exec Comm agenda to discuss if SHM wants to support this letter, write our own letter, or not comment. One distinction is that this letter was the product of a meeting on the subject, which obviously the SHM EC and Board would not have detailed knowledge about. The second issue is that SHM has no history of making similar comments to the FDA or any government agency of this kind. While the Ec might be supportive they may feel this is not something that SHM has the expertise or knowledge to say much about. As you might imagine since we touch so many different disease states SHM gets asked to evaluate guidelines, comment on regulations, etc and we probably take action on 5-10% of these requests. That being said when something is important to any of our partners (like Sanofi) that we have a long term relationship with we want to give any issue that is important to our partner careful consideration.

Let me see what they say and get back to you either way

Hope all is well. I haven't followed-up recently from our meeting to discuss the issues surrounding LMWH safety as it relates to follow-on biologics with Dr. Charlie Pollack. Did you get the information you needed from ACCP & Dr. Tapson? Are you still working on a letter to be submitted to the FDA? I would like to chat at your convenience to see where SHM is in the process. Let me know when might be a good time.

The NATF meeting was a huge success with important implications for our Lovenox and FOB strategies. Paul Kim did an excellent job briefing NATF on legislation and was asked by Goldhaber to provide ongoing advice and support. EMEA and ISTH LMWH guidelines finalized and "endorsed" by NATF. Dr Rao charged with preparing a communication to FDA expressing NATF concerns re generic LMWH

Dear Phil and Vic,

I trust you both are doing well and enjoying nice Spring weather.

We realize that you're very busy but it's been 6 months and we need to wrap of the article from the Clinical Round Table (CRT) at CHEST as quickly as possible.

I understand there has been some disagreement as to the conclusions that were reached at the CRT so we need guidance on how to proceed. Please contact Sydney tomorrow, if possible, with a status update so we may inform the supporter of when to expect completion of this important project.

As always your cooperation is appreciated.
Sincerely,

Dave

Jim and Eric,
We received some feedback from HP Spek on the press release for the substitutable scenario. He has asked that we make the quote come from Dr. Harenberg from ISTH (rather than JP Lehner). My thought is that we don't want to have someone from NATF quoted in our company press release because they lose credibility with the FDA, but let me know your thoughts on this and the ISTH quote. Susan and I spoke about it and we think it might be good because we bring the element of the EMEA position on biosimilars to strengthen our position. Joelle has already gotten approval from Dr. Harenberg on below.

"Prevention and treatment of thrombo-embolism is a major public health issue," said Professor Job Harenberg, MD, Professor of Medicine at the Faculty of Clinical Medicine Mannheim, University of Heidelberg and Chairman of the Subcommittee on Control of Anticoagulation of the ISTH. "There are important challenges in demonstrating therapeutic equivalence of a complex biological product such as Lovenox® without direct comparative clinical trials to assess efficacy, and even more importantly safety. This is what we have explained in our Consensus recommendation on biosimilars for LMWH<sup>1</sup>. Physicians and patients need to remain fully confident that when they use enoxaparin they will have consistent access to the highest quality products to treat such life-threatening conditions."

Noelle, thank you for your follow up on this issue, this was exactly my thought in requesting the update for the PR plan for ASH. I have copied Eric on this email as well since there are 2 issues that we will be dealing with at ASH if there is a generic launch. The first is professional understanding of the difference between substitutable and non-substitutable products; the second is the significance of the event on Lovenox and sanofi-aventis.

Eric is beginning to work on an educational program to address the first issue and may be able to provide very helpful input to the content and spokespersons that would be effective for the PR plan. To address the second issue I would recommend that we add Sam Goldhaber to the list of individuals who are media trained as he is head of NATF which was the primary association providing a public position on FOBS.

I would also like to recommend a conference call for the PR team with Eric and I next week to discuss and facilitate finalization of the plan. Please let me know your thoughts when you get a chance.

I would also ask if we could keep the email distribution somewhat limited while we work out these details to give us the flexibility of considering a couple of ideas before we communicate the final plan to the senior management team.

Thanks. Susan

Susan,
If a generic is approved between now and ASH, there could be a significant amount of media coverage at the meeting. At the very least, the generic enoxaparin news will be covered in articles that include the Riva EINSTEIN or other VTE data from the meeting that is newsworthy. Since C. Viehbacher and Corporate are now recommending a press release following approval of a generic, our hopes are that this will help us control the media message in the few weeks post-approval and during ASH. We will also have the approved standby statement and Q&A if we get any media inquiries.

We should also conduct media trainings immediately post approval with 1-2 external KTLs, so that when we are asked by on- or offsite media, we can offer an interview with a thoughtleader (Jerry and Paul Chew will also be media trained, so we can use them should a reporter want a company perspective). We recommend that Dr. Deitelzweig and Dr. Merli be media trained. Dr. Deitelzweig because we will be conducting proactive media outreach around his data presentation and he will need to be prepared to respond appropriately in any media interviews, and Dr. Merli because we know that he feels strongly about this issue in terms of patient safety. I welcome your feedback on other physicians who might have a strong opinion of FOBs. We do, however, recommend waiting until an FDA action on an approval to media train any external spokespeople, since the issue is sensitive, and we don't want to draw more attention to it externally if it does not occur.

I will follow-up with you to make sure you are in agreement with this strategy.

Greg, Jerry, Susan,
 Please be aware that two articles from the Associated Press and Reuters report that Momenta stock has risen after Oppenheimer analyst, Bret Holley, said that he expects that a ruling on M-Enoxaparin will come soon. No direct timeline was given in either story. Full articles are below.

We are monitoring, and would recommend that if we get significant pick-up of either wire article, we distribute a voicemail to the home office and field reminding people that no FDA action has taken place, and please stay focused.

Additionally, we think that because AP and Reuters – both very credible news sources – are covering this, we should be ready for an action today if not next week.

Jerry, I will call you on your cell to discuss.

-Noelle

AP, "Analyst upgrades Momenta, saying he expects approval for generic clotting drug M-Enoxaparin"

Shares of Momenta Pharmaceuticals Inc. rose Thursday after an analyst upgraded the stock, saying Momenta will soon receive marketing approval for its version of the anti-clotting drug Lovenox. Momenta expects the Food and Drug Administration to make a ruling on its generic, called M-Enoxaparin, by the end of this year. Oppenheimer analyst Bret Holley agreed that ruling will come soon, and he thinks the agency will approve Momenta's version, along with a competing generic made by Teva Pharmaceutical Industries Ltd. Holley raised his rating on the stock to "Outperform" from "Perform," and set a price target of $15 per share. In afternoon trading, Momenta shares picked up 60 cents, or 5.6 percent, to $11.26. Momenta is seeking to market M-Enoxaparin through a partnership with Novartis AG's Sandoz division.

Reuters, "UPDATE 1-RESEARCH ALERT -Oppenheimer raises Momenta"
Oppenheimer & Co upgraded Momenta Pharmaceuticals Inc to "outperform," saying it expects the company's clot-prevention drug to get approval from the U.S health regulators. The experimental drug, M-enoxaparin, which has been pending approval for over four years, is a generic form of Sanofi-Aventis' Lovenox. Momenta's key competitor, Teva Pharmaceutical Industries, also has a drug application pending for a generic version of Lovenox. Analyst Bret Holley said the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) will either approve both Momenta and Teva's generics, or will only approve Momenta's drug.

Jessica-

Thanks for the email.

I think your questions would best be addressed to NATF. You can reach Ilene Sussman, the executive director, at [REDACTED]

We are working on behalf of Sanofi.

Let me know if you need anything else.

Best,
Matt

Hi, Matt.

Good afternoon. A colleague of mine, Dana Elfin, forwarded me your e-mail about the WSJ ad today, and I have a couple follow up questions.

When you say FDA is close to approving a generic version of Lovenox, are you referring to the application from Sandoz/Novartis? Or another company's application? Was this ad taken out specifically because of that anticipated approval?

Regarding the requirements for biosimilars approval that the ad mentions, what does the North American Thrombosis Forum think of the approval pathway that was laid out in the health care overhaul legislation? If either the House or Senate version were approved, would it address the organization's approval concerns?

Also, could you explain the financial ties between Sanofi, NATF, and this ad?

Is your company working for NATF on this project?

Thanks very much,
Jessica Coomes

Dana-

I wanted to make sure you saw the ad in today's U.S. Eastern edition of the Wall Street Journal. As you probably know, the word on the street is that the FDA is close to approving a generic copy of the anti-clotting drug Lovenox. The ad, from the North American Thrombosis Forum, calls for the FDA to require clinical trials for biosimilars for safety and efficacy before approval, because of their complexity and difference from conventional pharmaceuticals. It specifically refers to anti-clotting drugs like the one Novartis is working on.

The ad is significant because it comes from a group of scientists, doctors and patients interested in thrombosis, but yet concerned that drugs without proper safety testing could come onto the market.

I have attached a PDF of the ad, which is on D2 of the U.S. Eastern edition. Please let me know if you have any questions.

Best,
Matt

Eric,
1. NATF has been engaged with this issue. This organization intends to contact FDA to express its position and concerns re patient safety associated with "generic" enoxaparin applications. The docket # will be included in this communication. NATF is planning to request a meeting with FDA.
2. I have not yet investigated or approached the orthopedic surgery groups 3. I have not been able to identify any reports of Canadian experience with generic enox. Still looking.

Jim- please let me know your thoughts on association(s) doing grassroots on FOB as discussed with Paul Chew. Timing is important.
Also, how about ortho folks? Lastly, have you followed with Canadian experience of pulling generic off market?
